19 Course Description:

As stated in the approved study plan.

Agricultural cooperatives are an integral part of the global agri-food system, providing essential jobs, income, and market access opportunities for smallholder farmers and others in agri-food supply chains in low- and middle-income countries. Cooperatives are an important form of business enterprise found in many industries, mainly in the agriculture sector. The course aims to learn about the emergence and development of the cooperatives movement, principles, purposes and objectives of cooperatives, areas of work and sources of funding, structure, organization and management of cooperatives, factors for cooperatives success and failure, and the emergence and development of the Jordanian cooperatives movement. Topics include cooperative business principles, financing, and decision making. Focus will be primarily upon traditional agricultural cooperatives.
